Empowering the local high street

While dynamic/surge pricing is widely used in the airline, hotel and taxi booking sectors, it has, until now, been unavailable to local retailers.

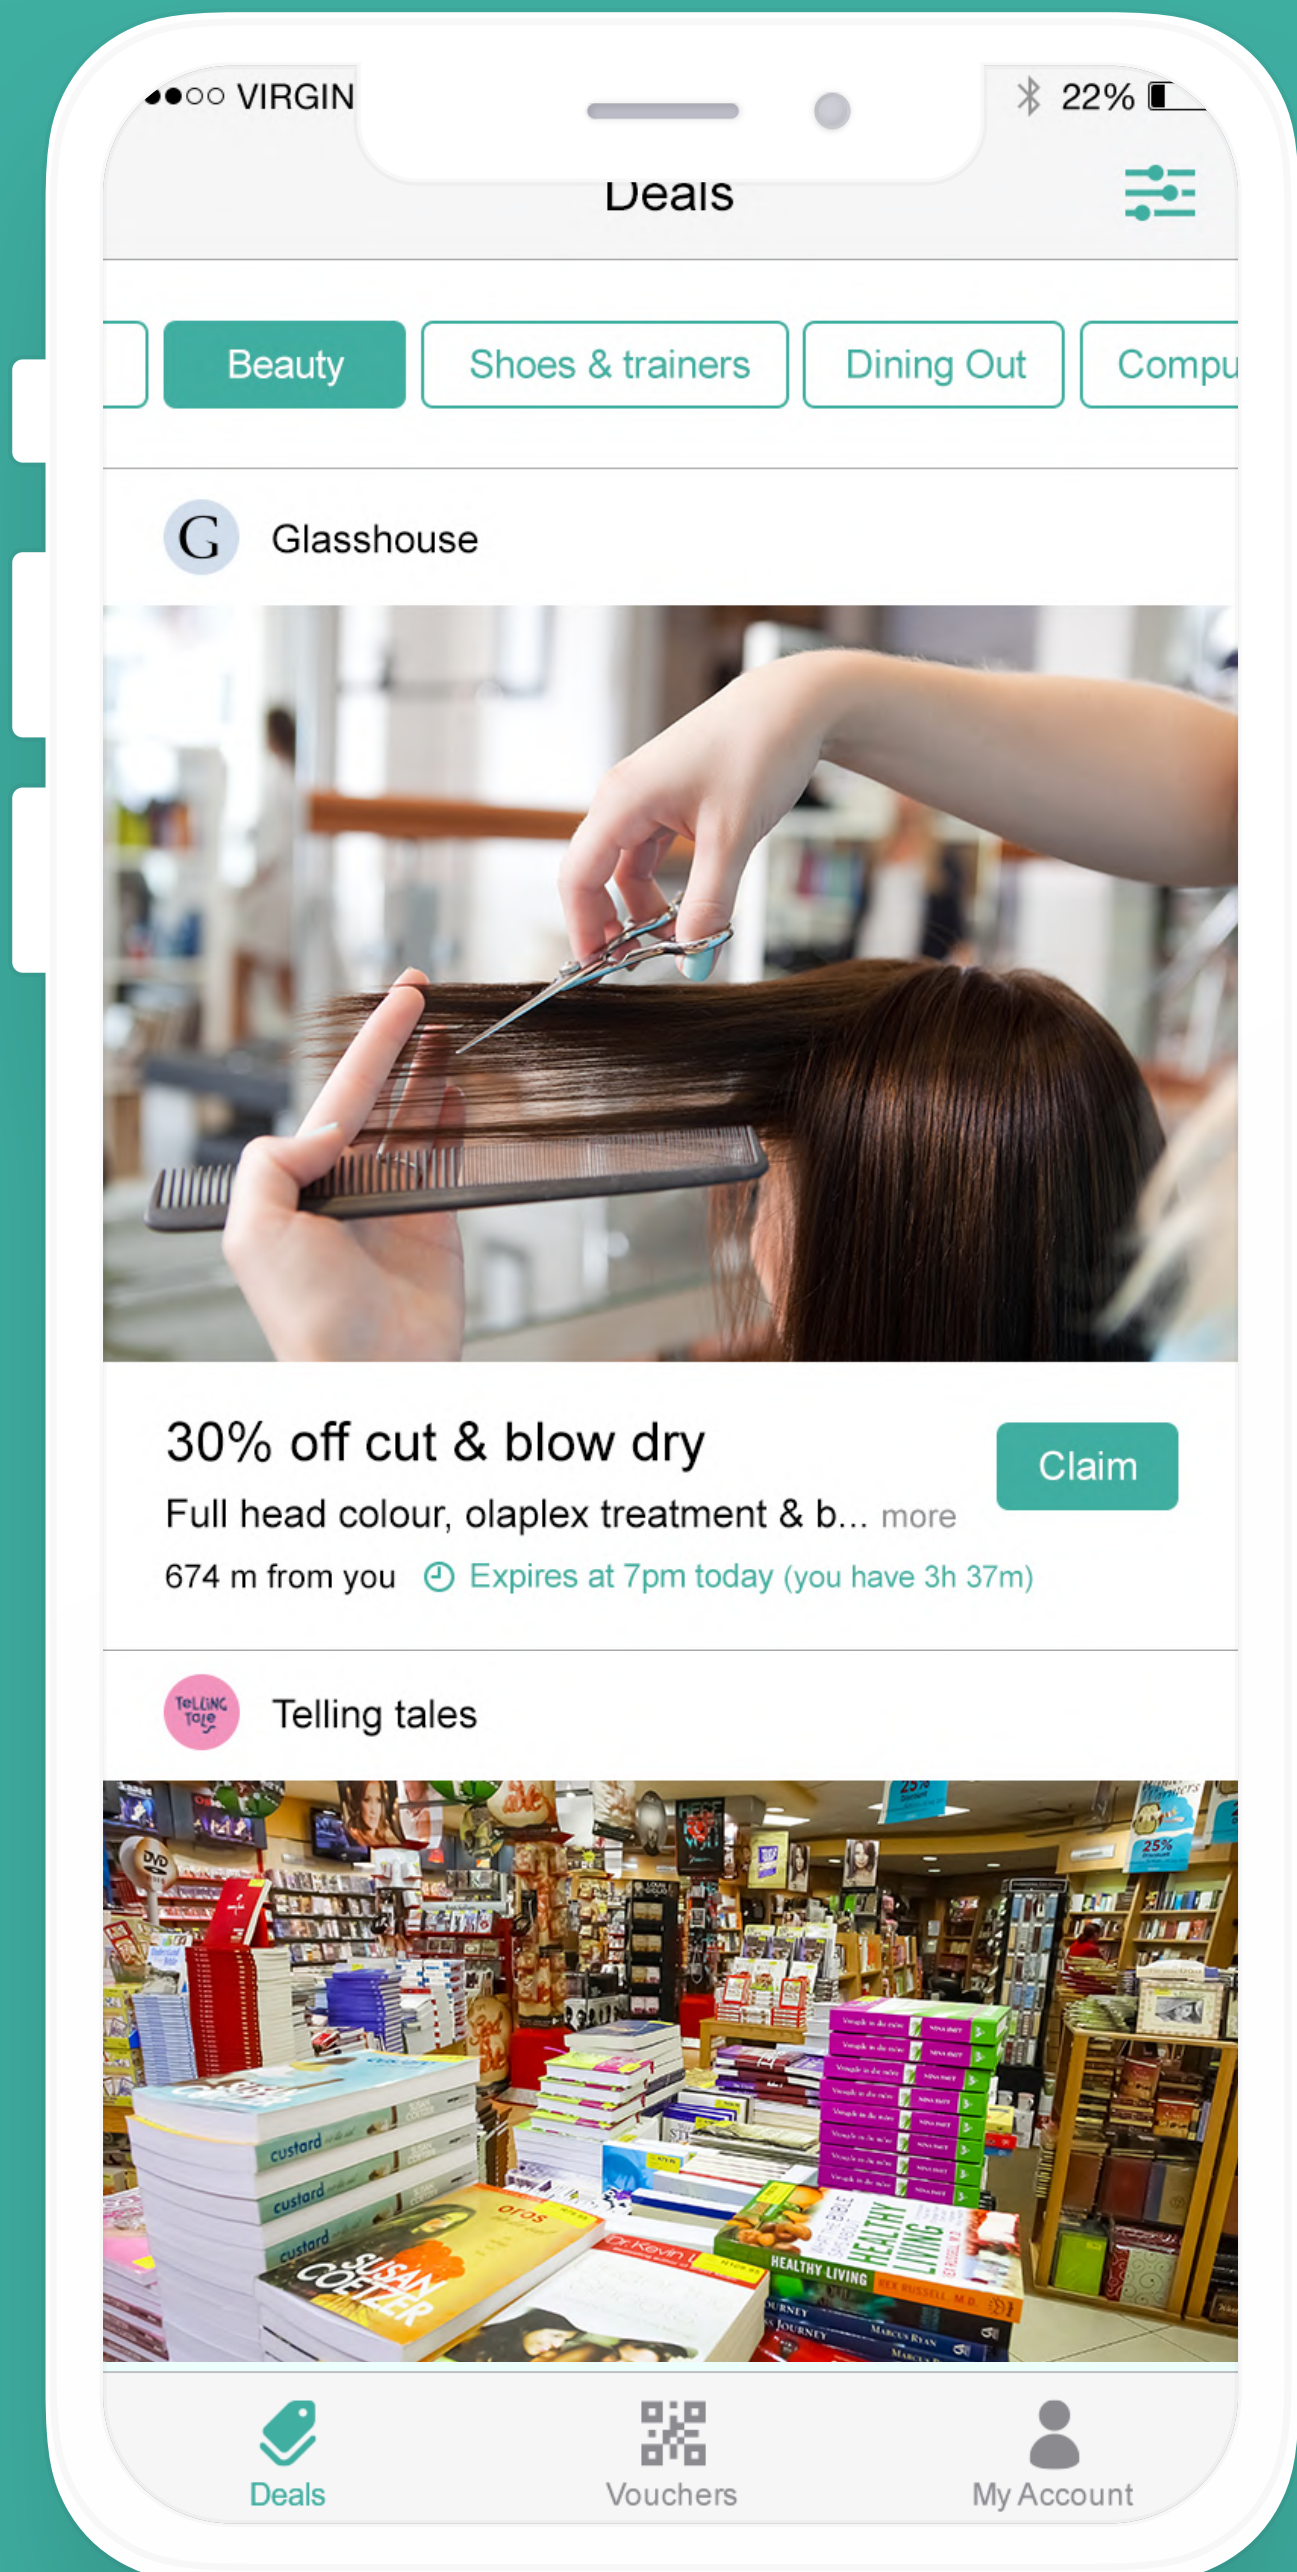

The LastMinuteLocal app. will provide a much needed boost to the beleaguered high street by providing a free state-of-the-art digital platform incorporating AI and Machine Learning that helps local retailers manage their excess stock, unbooked appointments or restaurant covers.

Benefiting local customers

The LastMinuteLocal app enables local customers to search for real-time discounted offers for products or services from their local High Street retailers such as women's fashion shops, kitchenwares, restaurants, hairdressers etc. so they can save time and money by heading straight to those retailers offering the best deals on the products or services they want.

They can also receive real-time text alerts for new offers the moment they become available.

Last Minute Local

How does it work?

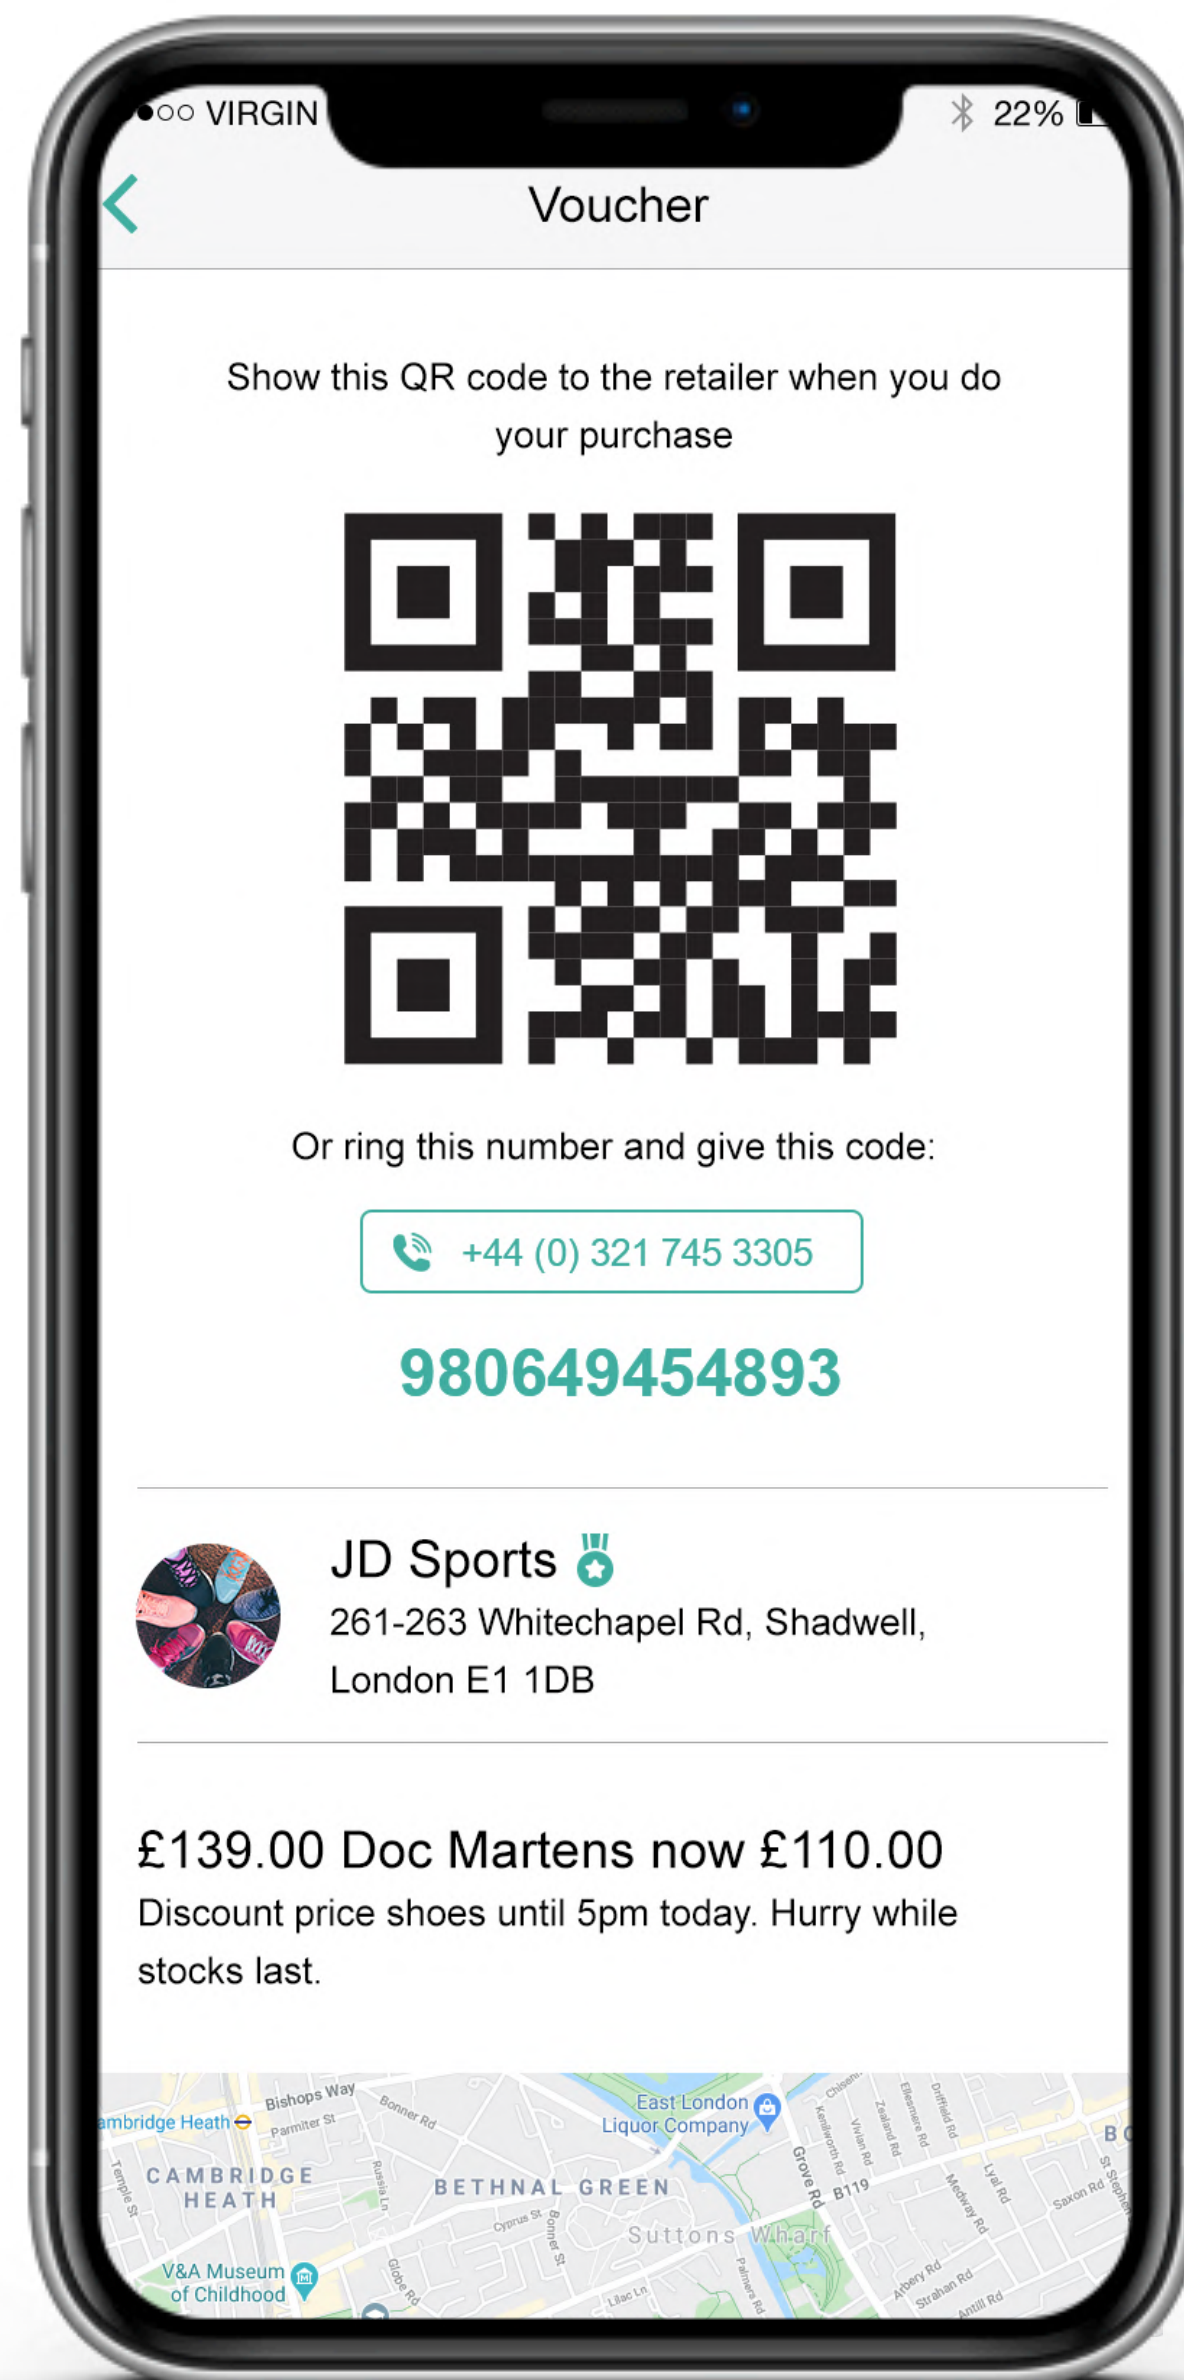

Last Minute Local

Instant posting of real-time offers

The LastMinuteLocal app. is designed for ease of usage for busy retailers.

Creating an offer can be completed in 3 simple steps and only takes a few minutes:

- Post an image of the product/service
- Write a short description of the discount offer
- Just 1-click makes the offer 'live' on the LastMinuteLocal platform

1-Click shopping for local customers

Local customers can use the LastMinuteLocal app. to search the daily discounts on the products or services they want from their local High Street shops.

When they find a product just 1-click on the 'Claim' button and a Voucher, in the form of a QR code and a numeric Discount Code is sent instantly to their smartphone.

Last Minute Local

3 ways for customers to claim an offer

1. Click & Collect

Customers pay online via the app, then come and collect their items from store.

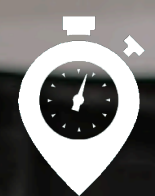

2. Home Delivery

Customers pay via the app, select 'Home Delivery' and enter their chosen address. Items will be collected from store and delivered by an LML approved delivery partner.

3. Pay In Store

Customer clicks to activate an offer, they receive a unique QR code which they bring into store to redeem and pay.

Last Minute Local

Generating critical last minute sales for the Service and Food sectors

Service Businesses such as restaurants, hairdressers or beauty salons have assets, such as restaurant covers, un-booked hairdressing appointments or beauty treatments whose value decreases to zero as the day progresses.

Similarly food retailers have perishable products such as meat, poultry, fish and bakery products that are fast approaching the end of their shelf-life.

LastMinuteLocal enables them to calibrate and promote real-time dynamic discount offers to their local community by increasing the discount levels in real-time before their goods and services reach their literal 'sell by date' at the end of the day.

Last Minute Local

Shifting excess inventory for local shops

For the first time local high st. retailers can start each business day with a new flexible and low cost way to promote, in real-time, last minute discounts on excess stock they wish to offer to their local community-something that has never been possible before.

Revenue Model.

LML has 4 distinct revenue streams

1. Sales Commission

LML will charge a 10% commission on successful sales made through the platform.

2. Deal of The Day

Retailers have the option to feature their products/services as the exclusive 'Deal of the Day' within their Sector, giving them prime position in the search rankings and the Deal of the Day rolling carousel.

3. Deal Alerts

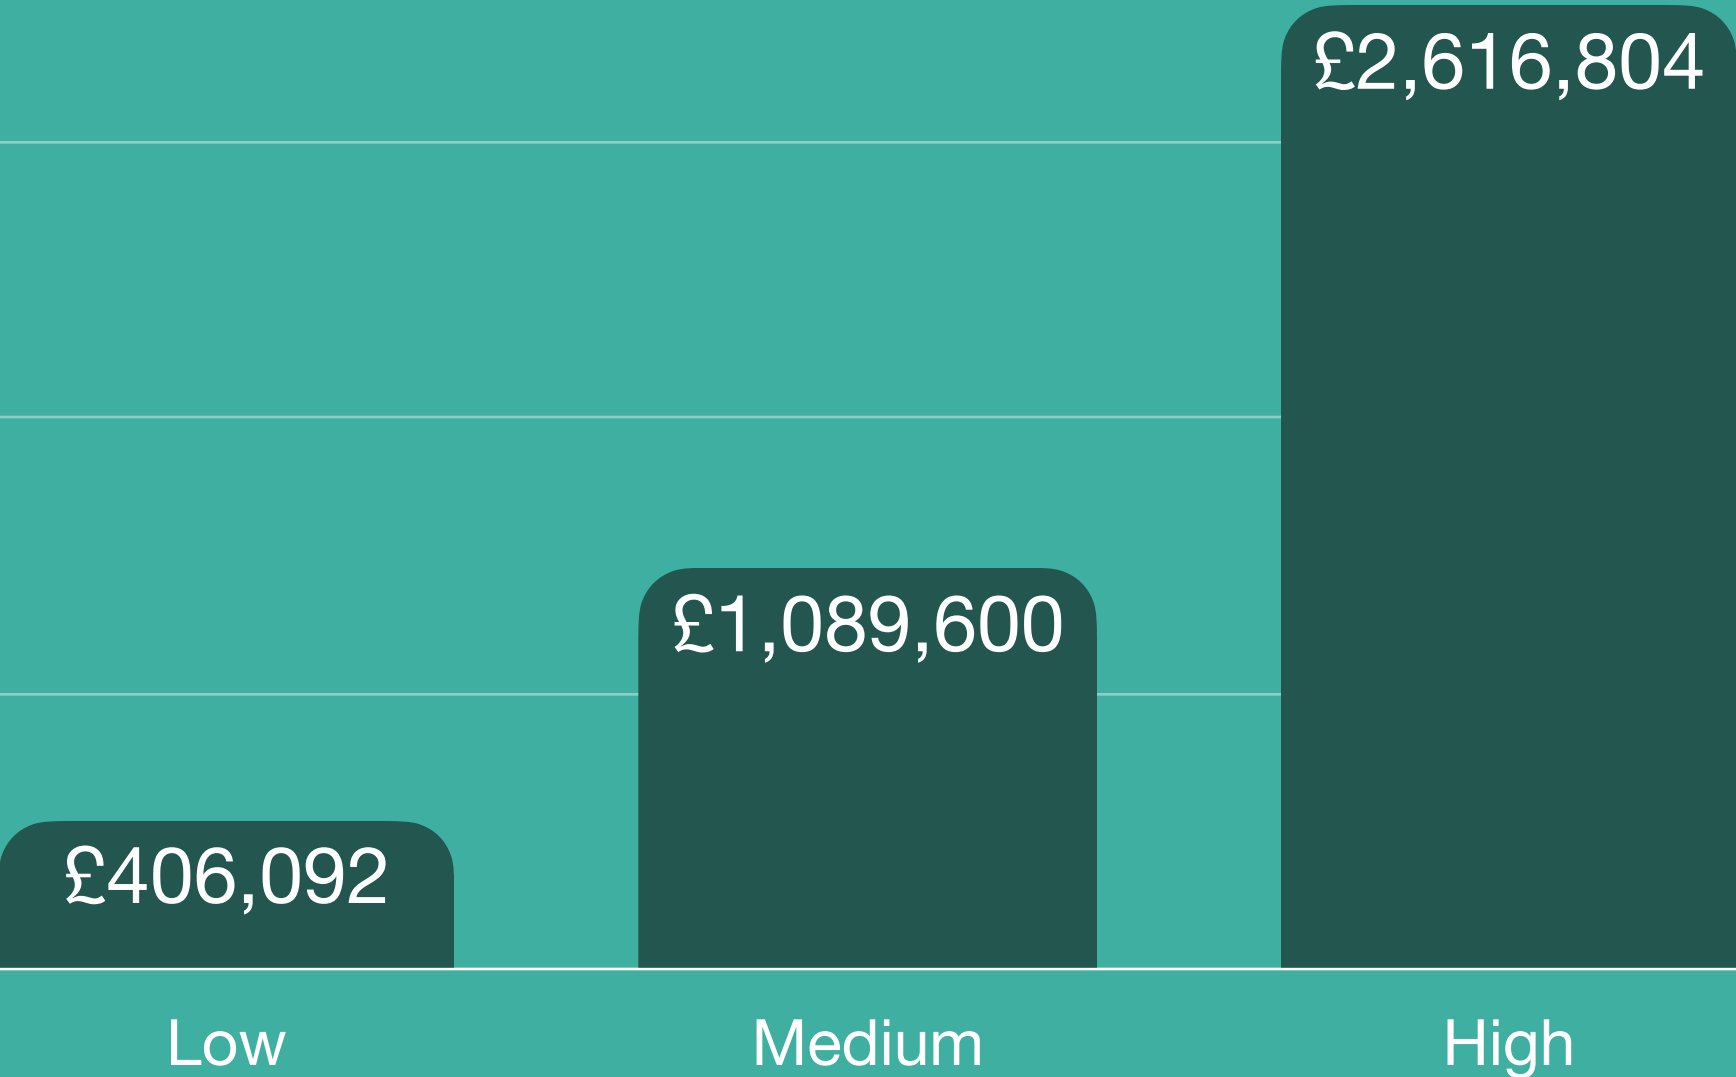

Retailers can pay to send promotional alerts (push notifications) to customers who have opted in for updates on their specific sector e.g Beauty Treatments.

4. Geo-location Alerts

Retailers pay for access to automated, location based alerts - so customers who are interested in their product category are alerted when they walk near the shop.
